Former Kent cricketer Hartley Alleyne has had the threat of deportation lifted for three years. Mr Alleyne, who has lived and worked in the UK for 30 years including as a cricket coach at St Edmund's School, has been told by the Home Office he has been given a three-year extension to his visa, by which time he should qualify for citizenship. It follows a campaign run by Yourcanterbury to help keep him in the UK. For the full story, see our website - www.yourcanterbury.co.uk

CAGED: City pair Anthony Lee, 32, and Hizekiah Roberts, 30

BY GARETH ARNOLD

A RUTHLESS gang who carried out a string of smash and grab raids on cash machines throughout East Kent were jailed this week.

The four men received a total of 36 years in prison for the theft of cash machines in Littlebourne, Beltinge, Sandwich and Hawkinge. All were charged with conspiracy to burgle and conspiracy to commit criminal damage. Hizekiah Roberts, 30, an unemployed builder from Dickens Avenue in Canterbury, was also charged with dangerous driving and two counts of causing grievous bodily harm to two police officers, after running them over in his attempt to escape.

One of the officers suffered a broken leg, and the other a broken ankle.

He was sentenced to 12 years in prison.

Anthony Cornelius Lee, 32, a builder from Greenbridge Park Caravan Site, Vauxhall Road, Canterbury, was sentenced to seven years and 10 months in jail.

Council look to increase search costs

BY GARETH ARNOLD

THE cost of land charges part of the controversial housing information packs (HIPs) scheme - could skyrocket under new council plans.

Local Land Charges are a vital element of HIPs, made compulsory to house sellers last year.

Now, tomorrow night, council bosses will discuss raising the cost of a Local Land Charge search from £6 to £56.

Council chiefs say the huge price rise is necessary to cover the cost of the Government's HIPs scheme, as Canterbury faces pressure from private search companies able to undercut it on price.

In a report to the executive, Kim Bennett, head of development services, wrote: "The message is somewhat stark. While ideally we must reduce our fee costs to make us competitive the hit on the revenue budget is too much to absorb in one year.

A local land search contains details of all local land charges registered against a property.

This includes matters of outstanding liability for road and other financial charges, home improvement grants, tree preservation orders and other notices of restriction or prohibition on a parcel of land.

It is a statutory requirement that all authorities within England and Wales compile, maintain and regularly update their Local Land Charges register.

In an effort to become more competitive, the council is reducing the cost of a full search from £145 to £130. Private companies currently charge around £100.

The uncertain future of the unpopular HIPs scheme has also given the council cause for concern. The number of official searches carried out by the council is declining as people turn to cheaper private companies.

LEVY: Council chiefs say the rise is needed to cover the cost of the Government's HIPs

The report continues: "Should the trend continue and the number of official searches continues to decline, then it must follow there will be an opportunity for staff savings. This might allow us to cut the fee still further and thus make us more competitive."

From January 1 this year, sellers face a £200 fine, imposed by trading standards officers, if they put their house on the market without a HIP. Many people are concerned that local authorities' search restrictions could delay the already strenuous process of buying or selling their property.

In addition to the search, a HIP includes an energy efficiency certificate, title deeds, and a sale statement providing basic information about the property.

to the same length of time behind bars. John Panhandle-Smith, 30, unemploved, from Snowdown Caravan Site, Aylesham Road, Dover, was jailed for eight years and five months.

In January 2007, officers from Kent police's Serious and Organised Crime Unit investigated a number of cash machine thefts in the area.

Following a lengthy operation at the beginning of last year, the gang were seen trying to steal a cash machine in New Romney in the early hours of February 28.

When police arrived, two of the gang tried to escape in a 4x4 and ran over two police officers. The other two men ran away.

Three of the men were arrested at the scene in New Romney and the fourth some days later.

All pleaded guilty to the charges, and were sentenced at Maidstone Crown Court on Monday.

Det Supt Tim Smith said: "I am delighted this determined and ruthless gang has been given significant sentences. The public need to be protected from criminals who cause this level of harm and damage.

Fund's budget cannot stretch to applicants

NEARLY 40 organisations applied for a share of funding from Canterbury's voluntary grants fund.

The fund – designed to offer grants to voluntary organisations to help with a variety of projects – is valued at more than £400,000 for this year.

The applications for funding added up to more than double the money available however, exceeding the budget by £415,000.

'Beaten' man's death was not suspicious

Post mortem shows injuries not related to death of 64-year-old

BY GARETH ARNOLD

THE DEATH of a 64-year-old assault victim who claimed to have beaten-up twice Christmas is not being treated as suspicious.

David Ruffles, of Poplar Drive, Greenhill, Herne Bay, died on Sunday, December 30, after collapsing at a friend's house in Mortimer

Police and an ambulance crew were called to the house at 2.20pm, but were unable to revive Mr Ruffles who died at the scene.

In the days before his death, Mr Ruffles told his flat mate he had been assaulted by two men in Mortimer Street at 11am on Christmas Eve, and attacked again near his home in Poplar Drive on Boxing Day, where he was punched and beaten with a stick by two men.

At the time of his death, Mr Ruffles had cuts and bruises on his face and body, and bruises on

Over Christmas he had told his flatmate that the cause of his numerous injuries had been the two assaults, but neither man had reported them to the police at the time.

Officers investigating Mr Ruffles' death initially suspected that he might have died as a result of the injuries apparently sustained in the attacks.

But a post mortem examination, carried out on last Wednesday, found no link between the injuries and Mr Ruffles' death.

A toxicology report is being prepared while the coroner decides whether to open an inquest into his death.

Police are examining CCTV footage, taken of the streets during the alleged assaults, to see if they can shed any light on what happened to Mr Ruffles on Christmas Eve and Boxing Day.

Although he owned the flat in Poplar Drive, Mr Ruffles is believed to have spent much of his time at the friend's house in Mortimer Street, where he was found dead.

Officers are also keen to get in touch with anyone who might have witnessed the attacks, or seen anything which could explain Mr Ruffles' injuries.

Anyone with any information is asked to call Detective Sergeant Fred McCormack on 01227

Do you know any unsung heroes who deserve awards?

THE search is on for the district's unsung heroes, as the Lord Mayor's Award scheme kicks off for a 10th year.

The initiative aims to reward residents whose efforts have made a difference to other people's lives. There are no age limits and nominations are welcome from all walks of life, although nominees must live in the Canterbury district.

The Lord Mayor, Cllr Cyril Windsor, said: "So many local people work tirelessly behind the scenes for the benefit of other residents and the district as a whole. This award scheme allows us to honour them for everything they do.

"If you know of anyone who deserves to be nominated for a Lord Mayor's Award, please get in touch and help them get the recognition they deserve.'

Nomination forms for the Lord Mayor's Award 2008 are available from any city council office, by calling 01227 862080 or by completing an online form at www.canterbury.gov.uk/lordmayorsaward. They should be returned by Monday, February 11.

Bye mince pies, hello Easter eggs

SHOPPERS hoping to snap up a New Year bargain in supermarket giant Tesco were in for a surprise this week.

No sooner had the Christmas puddings and mince pies been cleared from the shelves, had Easter eggs replaced them – more than three months before the day

Jon Thomson from Herne Bay said he was staggered by the sight when he popped into the Tesco store in Whitstable.

He told Yourcanterbury: "It was truly bizarre.

"At one end they were selling off the last of the Christmas chocolates cheap, and at the other end of the aisle there was a growing collection of Easter eggs.'

Easter Sunday falls on March 23 this year - more than 10 weeks

A spokesman for Tesco said: "We do have a limited range of Easter products in some of our stores. Feedback has shown some people want to plan well in advance - for example those on a tight budget or those who may be away for long periods of time."

Vomit bug forces hospital to close down two wards

KENT and Canterbury Hospital yesterday closed two wards after an outbreak of winter vomiting bug the

The Treble and Mount wards were closed on Tuesday after patients were struck down with the highly contagious illness.

The bug – which causes vomiting and diarrhoea - has been playing havoc with hospitals, including forcing the closure of two wards at Ashford's William Harvey Hospital just last week.

It had been hoped the Canterbury hospital had escaped the worst as the country found itself struck down by one of the worse outbreaks of the winter bug.

The two wards will now be subjected to intensive 'deep cleaning' and tight restrictions on visitors and admissions imposed.

There is no specific treatment for the virus, which can last up to three

Elderly patients, at risk of dehydration, are sometimes given fluids intravenously but otherwise it is often a case of riding it out.

Advice for those going down with the bug is to not visit their GP to prevent spreading the germs, and not to return to work for 48 hours after the symptoms have cleared up.

Infection control manager Debbie Weston said: "It can be very nasty for some people.

"There are lots of reasons people might have diarrhoea or vomiting, but with this it's very sudden, like turning on a tap. The vomiting is extremely profuse, often described by patients as projectile.

"Once the first 24 hours are over, some people start to feel better, but it leaves them feeling drained for a few days afterwards."

WHEN Kelly Carr was given a Christmas present by her long-time boyfriend to be a keeper for a day at wild animal park Howletts, she got more than she imagined.

Because while she was in the tiger enclosure at the Bekesbourne park, beau Stuart Janes surprised her by getting down on one knee and popping the question.

Miss Carr, 29, from Maidstone, was being shown the big cat enclosure by keeper Jim Vassey – star of BBC show Roar. But she was purring with delight when her boyfriend arrived to take photographs – and propose marriage.

A stunned, but delighted, Miss Carr said: "Just experiencing being keeper for the day was the most incredible thing I have ever done and then for Stuart to propose to me made it the most amazing day. We really appreciate Jim and the Howletts staff keeping the secret and making the

Leukaemia sufferer Ellie is a little star

IT'S A New Year and a new lease of life for a school girl who has survived more than two years of gruelling cancer treatment

Ellie Slater, seven, has been given a Cancer Research UK Little Star Award for continuing to shine despite her illness, and after long years of treatment, is finally in remission and feeling fit and healthy.

Her mum Michelle, of Somme Court, Canterbury, said: "You wouldn't believe the difference between how she was two years ago and the little girl we have today - it's amazing." Ellie was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukaemia in February 2004.

Mrs Slater explained: "We noticed Ellie wasn't really eating properly – she hadn't eaten a hot meal for a fortnight. I made her an appointment at the doctor and the night before we were due to go, she developed a rash on the bottom of her legs.

BY GARETH ARNOLD

"My first thought was meningitis so I did the glass test and could see it wasn't that. When we got to the doctor's they took one look at the rash and put us in an ambulance to hospital.'

The family was living in Shropshire at the time and were taken to Telford Hospital.

Mrs Slater said: "At the hospital they tested for all sorts of things. Leukaemia was one of them but it wasn't at the top of the list. However, they came back that evening and said they suspected that's what it was."

The next two years were a blur of trips to Birmingham and Shrewsbury hospitals for further treatments and appointments.

Ellie's dad Jason, currently serving with the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, got a posting back to Canterbury so they could be near Michelle's family for support. Ellie's treatment was also moved to Great Ormond Street and the QEQM Hospital in Margate.

However, she finished her treatment in May last year and is now in remission and feeling strong and healthy.

Her mother said: "She is absolutely brilliant now. At one point, Ellie was completely bald, lost all her energy and her life revolved around doctors and nurses.

"Now she is happy and healthy and back to being a child again.

"As much as doctors and nurses try and talk to the children in ways they understand, the children end up coming up to their level and becoming little adults. Now Ellie has begun to learn how to be a child again and it's lovely to see."

Proud family friend Joy Mendez, who nominated Ellie. said: "She has been through some tough times and has dealt with her illness far better than a lot of adults would have done.

"She is an absolute delight to know and has a special place in my, and her family's heart."

Tiny collection was one to watch at top auction

THEY are just a few centimetres long and collected over two generations.

But when they went under the hammer at a top London auction house last month they more than doubled their estimate and brought a mighty piece of New Year good cheer to their owner.

Because a large collection of the tiny watch keys – each averaging just a little over an inch in length, pictured below – made a whopping £9,240 at Bonhams' Fine Watch sale in London.

And for the mystery collector who lives near Canterbury, the good news didn't end there.

A very rare Swiss pocket watch, engraved with the Egyptian Khedival crown, sold for a staggering £6,580.

The collection was originally discovered during a fundraising valuation day for the National Trust, at Smallhythe Place, in Tenterden, near Ashford, last year.

Bonhams' regional valuer from Whitstable, Christopher Hodgson, describes how he came across the collection: "Smallhythe is a super venue and we always get some interesting finds. We'd already had a good day and then the watch keys came in, which were a real delight.

Hoof

"They are miniature works of art in their own right, many made from gold with the addition of semi-precious stones and lots of quirky designs, including one which looked like an early gun and another one in the form of a horses hoof."

The watch keys, which dated from the 17th century onwards, would have originally been sold as a gentleman's luxury accessory.

James Stratton, a specialist from Bonhams' clocks and watches department in London, says: "As well as being very attractive objects some of these keys were rather cleverly designed – the innovative 'typsy' key for instance, has a special safety mechanism which only allows you to turn the key in one direction, which prevents you from breaking your prized pocket watch."

The woman who had the collection has not been identified, however, it is understood she inherited many of the items from her mother who had been gathering the collection over many years.

Mr Hodgson told us: "The keys sold in two lots, both with estimates of between £2,000-3,000 – so clearly they far exceeded that. It is very rare to see such a large collection."

Wall worries over town's museum

A WALL near Herne Bay Museum is to be repaired at a cost of £5,000.

At a recent executive meeting of the city council, members expressed surprise at the cost, and asked whether the work could be carried out by people on community service.

It is hoped the repairs will improve the building until a new one can be erected.

UNLOCKING A FORTUNE

THEY may be small, but they pack a pricey punch. These are the tiny watch keys which sold at Bonhams recently.

James Stratton, a specialist from the London auction house, said: "In the 18th and 19th centuries, pocket watches were sold with fairly basic steel keys and these ornate keys would have been bought as an additional accessory by fashionable gentlemen. Later the keys became collectors' objects in their own right."

Kids will dig historic lessons

GENUINE archaeological treasures will be available to the district's school children this year thanks to a new service introduced by Canterbury Archaeological Trust.

Three hundred boxes of original artefacts, replicas, models and ephemera ranging from prehistoric tools to WWII gas masks and ration books, will be available on loan to all the county's independent infant, junior and secondary schools; nearly 800 in total.

Canterbury Archaeological Trust education officer Marion Green, said: "The collection is very varied and includes finds from archaeological digs, Anglo-Saxon and Viking helmets; toys from the early 20th century; and really interesting ephemera from the World Wars.

"Among the models are Viking and medieval ships, a Norman castle, a medieval house, a Roman dining room, WW2 aeroplanes and the Columbia space shuttle."

Funded by both the Kent Archaeological Society and the Friends of Canterbury Archaeological Trust, members say the service is a response to the growing interest in archaeology among young people and will make practical use of thousands of items that have been inherited by the trust.

It is hoped the items will become valuable teaching aids across the school curriculum in history, art, technology and English lessons.

Police release internet guidelines for parents

RESIDENTS who splashed out on new PCs and laptops for their children during the Christmas season are being reminded to be safety and security conscious.

With more youngsters than ever across the county expected to be logging on to the internet this year, Kent police has released a list of guidelines to parents in a bid to keep them safe from harm.

Youth crime reduction officer PC Martin Carter said: "Although children mostly use computers when they are securely inside their own homes, we have to remember the virtual world is completely open to them and can pose all sorts of risks if precautions are not taken.

"We want to remind parents and guardians to keep an eye on what their children are doing and to ensure they are safe while they have fun on their computers."

Pointers include knowing what your children are doing online and who they are talking to, warning them not to give out personal details to online friends, not to reply to spam e-mails and never to communicate online with a stranger.

PC Carter said: "While most people are online for the same reasons – to have fun and to learn – it's important to safeguard against the minority of people who use it for dishonest means.

"Precautions can be taken easily and by everybody."

QUESTION & ANSWER

BTLL READING

How did you get involved with the alcohol service?

I joined the alcohol service in 1979 having worked as a mental health nurse in general psychiatry. I'd become interested in treatment approaches at Mount Zeehan in Canterbury and learned that working with problem drinkers was rewarding and productive.

What is the role of the alcohol service?

The service has two functions. Firstly, it provides services to those affected by the use of alcohol and those who suffer the consequences of drinking by others. The second role is to provide support, training and advice to professionals who deal with alcohol misuse such as doctors, social workers, and probation officers.

What do you provide?

We provide a range of services throughout east Kent, including different types of group treatment, individual help and help for families. We are able to accept self-referrals to the service and help is free and confidential. The main aim is to help people to help themselves.

Is there a problem with alcohol in Kent?

A recent study showed that levels of alcohol consumption in Kent are relatively high compared with other parts of England.

Alcohol problems occur across the country

Have you seen an increase in alcohol addiction in Kent?

The numbers who seek and are referred for in Kent as any other part of England.

and have powerful consequences both for society and the individual. We have a national problem with alcohol and this is reflected as much

The numbers who seek and are referred for help have never been higher. The rise in demand for treatment exceeds growth in the population; more people are seeking help for drinking problems than in previous years.

Much of the problematic alcohol use remains hidden and cannot be measured accurately in terms of the number of people approaching specialist agencies for help. Alcohol is cheaper and more widely available and we know people are drinking heavily at younger ages. It seems likely the number of people with alcohol problems in Kent will continue to increase.

What advice can you give to people who are worried about their drinking habits?

A It's important to recognise alcohol problems can be solved with or without specialist help. There are many things which people can do to reduce their consumption, such as keeping a record of consumption and trying to reduce this, and talking to someone who is trusted. If people are concerned they cannot reduce their consumption, it is easy to get help.

The staff at the alcohol service can give advice. Although some people find they will need to stop drinking completely, many others can reduce their consumption to levels which are no longer problematic, though it can be a good idea to have a few weeks without alcohol.

Mhat can friends and family do to help?

It can be very stressful to be around someone who is drinking too much, but friends and family should try to be honest with the person who is drinking by expressing their concerns and offering to help where they can.

It is important not to take responsibility away from the individual drinker and to recognise that each individual must make their own choices. It is seldom a good idea to discuss such matters when someone is actually drunk.

Do you have any advice for people who may be concerned about their drinking over the recent festive period?

A For many people, alcohol will have formed part of their celebrations with no lasting difficulties. Some people drink more during the festive period than normal and simple measures such as alternating with non-alcoholic drinks, not drinking on an empty stomach and not drinking too early in the day can help.

If people did over-indulge it is a good idea to follow this with a period of reduced drinking, or not drinking at all, to allow the body to recover.

A good piece of general advice is to check that alcohol is being used to enhance celebrations, rather than using the celebrations as an excuse for increased drinking.

Feel GR8 in 2008

IT'S the nation's biggest hang up in the New Year – just how do I lose all those extra Christmas pounds?

Most of us hit the gym or begin a rigorous exercise regime.

However that effort could end in disaster if wannabe fitness fanatics don't look after themselves before they start to sweat.

That's the warning from a top Kent physiotherapist, who is urging all New Year gym users to adopt her GR8 stretch plan to help them avoid injuries and get fitter.

Chartered physiotherapist Alison Boorer has adapted an eight point stretch plan for anyone hoping to battle the bulge or up their fitness levels in the next few weeks.

Alison recommends the moves to anyone of any age, male or female, who is throwing themselves into a new fitness regime.

The five minute routine, which loosens key muscles in the body, is easily understood and can be followed from the quick guide pictured.

Alison, who runs the Bromley Physiotherapy and Sports Injury Clinic in Sundridge Park, is rolling out the plan across the county from next week.

She admitted: "It's fantastic that we really get motivated in January to get fit. However it's all too easy to throw yourself in too hard and fast, and then hurt yourself.

"I have developed this plan to help many of my patients ease their muscles and joints into the demands of a new exercise regime.

"These stretches can be performed both before and after exercise sessions.

"Some of my patients actually stretch themselves fitter and many have noticed a real difference in their fatigue levels and muscle pain after workouts.

"With each stretch taking just 30 seconds, this is as valuable as your workout."

Alison recommends that all wannabe David Beckhams or Paula Radcliffes prepare for their fitness assault with these few easy steps.

She adds: "By taking a few simple steps to prepare for any new activity, any grumbling injuries can be resolved or avoided all togeth-

"This means less people give up at the first hurdle and are able to achieve their fitness goals in 2008.

"Other key pointers I recommend are starting out slowly to give you time to adapt to the new experience, make sure you have the correct footwear on and drink plenty of water as dehydration increases the chance of injury."

Boorer added: "These eight basic stretches can be more specific to suit your particular sport by consulting your local chartered physio."

For more details about the GR8 plan contact Alison at her clinic at info@bromley physio.co.uk, or see bromleyphysio.co.uk.

as left, with feet pointing forwards and heels on the floor. Bend the front knee and straighten the back knee. You should feel the stretch in the calf of the back leg.

1. Standing

2. Lying on your front, bend your knee and keep hold of the ankle. Gently bring the heel towards your bottom. Your should feel the stretch down the front of the thigh.

3. Lying on your back, bend the hip and the knee of the leg to be stretched. Gently straighten the knee until a stretch is felt down the back of the thigh.

4. Place your foot on a block, or a step. Keeping your back, and back leg straight, take your weight forward over the toes of the front foot. You should begin to feel a stretch in buttock of the front leg. If not use a slightly higher block/step.

together, and grasp both ankles.
Keeping your back straight, gently lean forwards and you should begin to feel a stretch in the inside of your thighs.

6. Stand up straight with your hands grasped behind your back. Push your chest forwards, and squeeze your shoulder blades together so that your shoulders are pulled backwards. You should feel a stretch across the upper chest and shoulders.

7. Kneel on all fours. Keeping your hands on the floor infront of you, slowly sit back onto your heels, as shown below. You should feel a stretch throughout your back.

8. Lie on your back, with your hips and knees bent allowing your feet to sit flat on the floor. Keeping your shoulders flat on the floor gently drop your knees drop over to the left, if comfortable down to the floor, and then back over to the right. Hold each position for about 20 seconds.

HOW TO KEEP FIT AND HEALTHY

Nick Ames meets up with fitness instructor (and personal trainer to Leonardo DiCaprio) Cornel Chin, who shows him how to lose the pounds he gained over the Christmas period.

NEWS RELEASE

£10K OF HEALTHCARE DONATED BY SPINE PRACTITIONER

This week a local health professional has kindly donated a cheque for more than £1,000 for the Salvation Army.

Dr. Farthing stated, "I have to give thanks to all of my patients who made this possible. During the year, we have saved a portion of our consultation fee and raised money for needed gifts for people less fortunate during Christmas 2007".

"We have also provided literally hundreds of gifts to teenagers who may not have received anything this year. All of the presents have come from practice members kindly donating all kinds of things".

This is the second year running and the Ideal Spine Centre has committed to keep this up for many years to come.

Dr. Farthing said, "To help even more local people in our community, I have committed to providing a spine and health check, valued over £55 for free up to £10,000.'

Nearly 200 people will be able to take advantage of this incredible opportunity.

The purpose of this drive is to help people who are still suffering, possibly taking pain-killing medication or have not been given a solution to their problems. Many people seek relief every day, but what the Ideal Spine Centre is aiming to do is address the cause of your

Bubbly female, 71, 5ft9, blonde, medium build, OHAC, GSOH, love most things in life, live in New Romney Box

yourcanterburyblogger

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in and around Canterbury...

Why the dawning of a New Year leaves me feeling cold

NOW Christmas is over, we are faced with the inevitable come down of the New Year.

These next few weeks are an annual limbo of time. Let's face it nothing happens.

I have never liked this time of year because of the inevitable disappointment it brings.

So much hope is invested in one tick of the clock as another year arrives with undue haste. But you soon realise that time doesn't necessarily play along with your hopes and dreams or even care. The year looms in front of you like a huge empty bucket of possibilities.

The worst thing about New Year is it's one of those times when you're expected to have a good time. It's like the whole nation has been entered into a knobbly knees competition at Butlin's and wants to be splattered with custard pies while joining a 55 million people-long conga.

Even when you think it might lead to worldwide disaster it disappoints. When the new century was due we were all warned about the terrible consequences of the Millennium Bug. Planes would fall from the sky, nuclear missiles launch by themselves, and the tills stop working at Tesco. It was billed as the end of the modern world as we knew it. But even that was a damp squib. I thought it would be like the Day of the Triffids or 28 Days Later; we'd wake up to a silent world and start to have to hunt for antelope again.

In fact the millennium was one of my most miserable new years ever. Perhaps because we all thought the end was nigh, my friends and I decided to camp out on a field and build a man made of straw that we would sacrifice to the gods through the element of fire. Unfortunately, as the day went by and the drizzle persisted, our great totem to the gods got damp and as the final second of 1999 passed into the New Year it would not light. In the end we were forced to throw petrol over the damn thing – looking back it's amazing we did not all end up charred.

To make matters worse, my friend, who had been watching far too much Ray Mears on the telly, thought this would be the ideal time to try out his technique of cooking chicken in a hole in the ground by placing it on top of hot rocks from the fire and wrapping it in banana leaves. Where he got banana leaves from in Kent in December I don't know. It may work for Ray in some Pacific isle, but in a cold December in the UK unless your rocks are made of uranium you're not going to cook anything. So we were wet, cold and forced to chew on part boiled chicken breast. Thank God we had the whisky.

I have even been at Sydney Harbour Bridge as the gongs have chimed and watched the fireworks of which they are so proud. I couldn't see a thing thanks to the lanky Aussie buffoons in front of me.

"We do the best New Year on the planet, mate," they would say to me. Well, I am sorry, that may be their idea of culture but here in the UK we have the Sugababes on the box and haggis. I wonder how much an Easyjet flight to Antarctica for New Year 2009 is?

DANIEL HAWKES

The operations manager for skiing company Realli-Ski, talks about its latest innovation – a training simulator designed to hone your skills away from the slope

What is Realli-Ski?

We're based at Out Elmstead Lane, Barham, near Canterbury. The Realli-Ski holiday takes care of the whole ski package, from helping you learn the ski basics or improving technique before you depart, picking the best hotel and ski resort, to providing a familiar, friendly-faced instructor when you hit the slopes.

How is this different from a normal skiing holiday?

Our holidays are set up to deliver continuity of tuition from simulator to slope, and the fully-managed holiday package is suitable for beginner, intermediate and advanced skiers.

Starting from January and running throughout the ski season, an expert Realli-Ski instructor will be taking groups of skiers to the snow-sure resort of Solden – Austria's premier ski destination – for a relaxing but invigorating fiveday break.

It's important to us that we deliver a high quality, personal service to our customers and what could be better than taking your own ski instructor with you on holiday?

How do you teach people to ski before they go on holiday?

Using a tilting, moving Realli-Snow surface to replicate the thrill of the piste, the Realli-Ski simulator can help beginners learn 15 times faster than on snow or a dry ski slope.

Boasting a harness and hand bar to ensure complete safety when skiing, the simulator offers five skill levels from the first-timer green run to the expert black double diamond standard. And with no time wasted on ski lifts, a 30-minute session is equivalent to five hours skiing on a slope.

We think the combination of ski lessons in the UK and having your own Realli-Ski instructor with you on holiday will transform the way you learn to ski, boost your confidence quickly, and ensure customers have a fun-filled, stress-free time on, and off, the piste.

Pressure puffers to stop smoking

Surely a hospital, of all places, must remain a smoke-free zone (Residents petition to stub out fag-end mess, Yourcanterbury, January 2)?

After all, this is a place where health is paramount.

Smoking is no longer socially acceptable, and while the sight of those unable to kick the habit outside pubs is one we have come to accept, there is no reason, as I see it, why smoking should be allowed in the confines of a hospital.

If the nearby residents don't like staff and visitors smoking in their streets, I suggest they put more pressure on those puffing away to give up.

Almost without exception, a trip to the hospital is a stressful occasion for one reason or another and I am sure working there brings with it additional pressures.

Therefore, to not allow smoking anywhere on the premises is a step too far. Surely a covered area away from the main entrances would solve the problem?

Well done to the bird rescuer

We would like to offer lots of praise to the young man who stopped on his riverside walk near Sainsbury's on Boxing Day to rescue a bird.

It had got caught by a fishing line and hook on a frail tree overhanging the river.

He climbed the tree risking a soaking and rescued the bird who happily flew away, making our day.

Patrixbourne where the vehicles leaving the A2 have to cross in front of vehicles coming on to the A2 from Canterbury.

Could there be a worse bit of idiocy than that?

Also, of course, we have the same stupid designing at the St George's roundabout approaching from the Wincheap area on the A28.

As you reach the roundabout with two lanes of traffic, and traffic coming from the right, you cross the roundabout and find that you have to get over to the right, if you can, because buses and taxis are coming from the bus station areas and join the left-hand lane as it is designated for them only.

To end this choice of planning mayhem that we, the taxpayers, have thrust upon us by the fools whose wages we pay, on the A256 which is a single lane each way road, from the roundabout where you join the Ramsgate road, it is subject to the national speed limit of 60mph. But as soon as you join the new duel carriageway by the Pfizer turning it changes to a 50mph limit! Now we know where all the residents went when they closed the asylums.

If you're splitting up, we can offer help

Although New Year is meant to be full of fun and merriment, many people find it a stressful time for their relationships.

Research by the Family Mediation Helpline recently revealed that almost a quarter of the population know of someone who has split up at New Year, and around 1.8 million couples feared that this Christmas may have been the last straw for their relationships.

The Family Mediation Helpline sees a surge in calls every January from people who have decided to split up with their partners and want to resolve disputes about finances, property and child-care arrangements, without battling it out in court.

But separating from a partner is painful for adults and children alike.

If you have split up from your partner and still want to start the year on the right foot, then call the Family Mediation Helpline on 0845 60 26627 to find out about your options for agreeing difficult decisions.

Breaking up will always be difficult, but if anyone has decided that their New Year's resolution is to separate from their partner, then they need to make sure that they do it in the right way, otherwise they might find themselves in for some frosty feuding.

Soldiers risking their lives deserve support

Probably a little late to make comment regarding the front-page article in your paper dated December 12 (Made to feel like 'scum'), however – I met a soldier from the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders at the beginning of November.

He had lost a tabby cat a few weeks previously and had discovered a photo of the cat on our website. He telephoned to claim his cat. He and his wife both lived at Howe Barracks and are a credit to his regiment and a lad and lass any mother would be proud of.

They had brought this cat down from Scotland after one of their grandmothers, and the owner of the cat, had gone into hospital with a brain tumour.

He mentioned whilst at the cattery he might be off to Afghanistan in the New Year.

Personally, I could not support any war, but certainly support the soldiers. They are all someone's son ### or daughter. I cannot imagine how I would be feeling so far from home and then being sent into a battlefield. I doubt this gentleman and his wife could afford to go drinking to excess; they had a problem getting together the £40 to claim their cat back. I wish them all well and a safe return to UK I wish all the people I deal with were half as decent as those two. Claire Butler Branch secretary, RSPCA Venetian & Pleated

Boredom is my biggest influence

Jimmy Carr follows his heart on tour

AS THE face of comedy on Channel 4, Jimmy Carr has become a regular fixture on our television screens, fronting shows such as 8 out of 10 Cats and Distraction.

But he says his real love is his live gigs, which is just as well as he is currently on a mammoth 12-month 140-plus-date tour, Repeat Offender.

This is his biggest tour so far and he will be playing to more than 200,000 fans across the UK and Ireland. But he warns his shows are not for the faint-hearted.

"It's not for the easily offended," he said. "It's not even for people that are difficult to offend. Essentially it's for people who are without a moral compass."

Despite having occasionally caused controversy with some of his more politically incorrect jokes, Jimmy makes no apologies for his material.

"In terms of taste and decency I think you can say pretty much anything in a comedy show," he said. "I think being politically correct is important if you are a doctor or a policeman, or doing any of these important jobs in society. But as a comic I say rude things and offensive things and it's not for everyone."

So what can people expect when they come to see one of Jimmy's shows?

"I tour every year and this year it is called Repeat Offender, but for no real reason," he said. "Anyone who has come to see the show before will know that it's just a long list of jokes. It's quite funny, but there's no real theme to it. It does exactly what it says on the tin for a comedy show, which I quite like."

After his show, Jimmy likes to meet his audience. This means that as well as returning to familiar towns and venues, Jimmy has also started recognising some of the regular faces who come to see him.

"When you meet people after a gig, you often meet the same people two years in a row and bizarrely you kind of remember some of them," he said. "It's like 'Oh, hello. Been well?" Or the heckler from last year heckles again. It's quite a nice thing."

This year sees the release of his third stand-up DVD, Comedian. It is the culmination of Jimmy's last two tours, Gag Reflex and Off The Telly, and contains different material to the new tour.

As a comedy fan, Jimmy loves to watch DVDs of his favourite comics – influences such as Stephen Wright and Emo Phillips, or performers he admires such as Dave Chappell and Chris Rock.

"It's a weird thing, but my taste in comedy tends to be far from what I do," he said. "I've been influenced by TV and media – I don't have a great attention span. I get bored quite easily. So the biggest influence on my comedy is boredom."

Jimmy Carr will be at various venues in February, April and May. For full tour details, see www.jimmycarr.com.

FOR anyone who wants to inject some culture into a busy lifestyle, the Marlowe Theatre could have the answer.

The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged) offers a hilarious take on the Bard's great writings, by rattling through all 37 plays in just 97 minutes.

Why waste time watching one full-length production, when you could experience the lot with the world's greatest Bard busters?

With a rap Othello, Titus Andronicus as a galloping gourmet and Hamlet being performed forwards, backwards and sideways, theatre goers will never look at Shakespeare in the same light again.

The critically acclaimed show, which comes direct from London's West End, has been described "wildly "hysterical" and imaginative".

SINCE leaving the sofas of Central Perk behind, Lisa Kudrow has popped up in a number of small, vet memorable, film roles.

Like her latest role as Denise, the quirky pal of Hilary Swank's Holly in the big screen adaptation of Irish author Cecelia Ahern's chick lit novel, PS I Love You.

The film follows Holly, who is in mourning for her happy-go-lucky husband Gerry (Gerard Butler) who died of a brain tumour. Her grief is interrupted by the arrival of letters from Gerry, each with a different request, which he intended her to receive following his

"His intention was that she remember herself, through all the things he wanted her to do, and tells her to do in the letters. Go out with a friend, do karaoke, get outside of yourself, don't take yourself so seriously. Remember who you were when I met you."

In the meantime, Holly is faced with the prospect of finding love again with barman Daniel (Harry Connick Jr), while Denise desperately and sometimes tactlessly tries to find a man of her own.

These days, she is content to see acting as a part-time job, having left the demanding hours of the hit sitcom, and later her criticallyacclaimed HBO TV series The Comeback, Lisa also had to adjust to life after Friends.

"I look back on Friends fondly," she says. "We all still keep in touch although we don't see each other a lot.

"I miss certain things about the show, like not being with those people every single day. Matthew Perry is one of the funniest people I've ever met and I miss just cracking up.

"It was a really happy, good experience. And it's done, so we have to just move on. There are no regrets.'

Such was its popularity that people still speculate about a Friends reunion, or a film version of the show, following in the footsteps of the recent Sex and the City movie.

MOVED ON: Lisa Kudrow is embracing life after Friends

"I think they should dump the whole idea," says Lisa.

"The writers would have to be on board and then get the six of us on board. And who's going to come up with all that money to talk everyone into doing it?

"I don't know if it's worth it. Ross and Rachel got together, Phoebe's married, Monica and Chandler moved to Connecticut.

"The series ended. It's not these six people living in New York being there for each other as family. They now have their own families; the story's over.

"Maybe in 30 years, other actors will do Friends and it will be a spoof and they'll be making fun of it. But I won't be in it. Or perhaps I'll be a grandma...'

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRAN

AQUARTUS

(Jan 21 – Feb 19)

AN opportunity to make money gives you a chance to spend more time on private pursuits. This comes as a relief, as you were beginning to tire of working with a large group. If someone asks for money, you should either refuse or give it as a gift or your relationship will be permanently damaged. You'll be in much demand over the next eight weeks.

TAURUS

(Apr 21 – May 21 )

THE chance to go on a glamorous vacation could fall into your lap, You may have trouble finding someone to care for a pet or child. Ask a female relative who owes you a favour. If you're looking for work, spend the next two months sending out CVs and setting up interviews. A relative, neighbour, or friend could tip you off to a good position.

LEO

(July 24 – Aug 23)

YOU'LL feel especially energetic this week, particularly where romance is concerned. It may be impossible to contain your desire for the object of your affection. Resist the urge to buy your way into their affection. Instead, lay your heart at their feet. Partnership issues will take on increased importance over the next two months.

SCORPIO (Oct 24 - Nov 22)

CREATIVE inspiration could strike at the strangest time this week. News of a pregnancy comes as a surprise. Although this will mean some changes in lifestyle for you, they will prove pleasant ones. Don't let a friend's gloomy warnings about finances spoil your fun. Talking with relatives could prove productive

PISCES

(Feb 20 - Mar 20)

PEOPLE are drawn to your rebellious side. You're glad to be celebrated for your distinction. Usually, it is held against you. A forbidding business or romantic partner may try to take the wind out of your sails. Turn a deaf ear to their warnings. Taking a job just for money will only lead to misery. A new friend could help you find a position more suited to your talents.

GEMINI

(May 22 – Jun 22)

YOU feel irresistibly drawn to an offbeat authority figure who you could share some passionate evenings this week. Don't rush things though. Sexual sparks don't always translate to domestic harmony. You could get a chance to add to your qualifications between now and mid-March. This additional knowledge will give you more freedom.

VIRGO

(Aug 24 – Sep 23)

YOU'RE the focus of romantic attention. Your charms have never been more apparent. If you're in a relationship, let your lover wait on you. Normally, you're the one looking to meet their needs. If you're single, you could meet someone special at a dance club, photography exhibit, or movie

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov 23 – Dec 21)

YOU'RE earning more money now, which gives you more freedom in your personal life. You may not realise it, but many people envy your situation. Take care not to flaunt your liberty to an authority figure, or you could be unfairly punished. Working on behalf of a humanitarian cause will prove stimulating between now and mid-March

TO FIND OUT MORE ABOUT WHAT THE STARS HAVE IN STORE FOR YOU CALL RUSSELL ON:

ARIES

(Mar 21 – Apr 20)

YOUR career is starting to look up, when you get support from an unexpected source. Your benefactor's input could put you in line for a raise, promotion, or highly-paid job. Some of the duties might be tough, but perform them well and you'll be given more impressive assignments. Spending more time with friends helps relieve tension.

CANCER

Jun 23 – Jul 23)

STEPPING out of your comfort zone could put you in the path of romance. You may find work a slog this week, thanks to plodding colleagues. Don't tease them because they will take it the wrong way. The opportunity to broach a sensitive topic with a lover could arise. Discuss money, sex, religion, or other subjects that have brought grief in the past.

LIBRA

(Sep 24 – Oct 23)

YOU could be given some unusual assignments at work. These jobs bring out the best in you. Your high spirits will have a good effect on your home life. If you're looking for a new abode, you could find one within walking distance of your job. Pay no attention to nagging fears about your communication skills. You'll handle yourself admirably at a fancy party.

CAPRICORN

(Dec 22 - Jan 20)

WIT, charm, and intelligence characterise everything you do. No wonder it's so easy to make friends. Resist the urge to engage in a secret love affair, or you could hurt an innocent victim. You need to be scrupulously honest in order to maintain the good name you've made for yourself. Ideas for making more money come fast and furious over the next three weeks

The building blocks of a Shameless hit

BY ANDY WELCH

THE rather un-loved estate where chaotic family drama Shameless takes place is not somewhere you'd automatically class as something desirable to recreate.

But the ups and downs of the out-of-control Gallagher family have proved so popular that TV bosses built their own real-life version of the fictitious Chatsworth Estate. The set, which was revealed to the press in April, is now back on our screens as the fifth series rolls on.

During the first four series, the drama was filmed on an estate in Gorton, Manchester, complete with real-life residents in the background and all the problems shooting on location brings with it.

David Threlfall, who, out-of-character, looks a lot smarter than the hapless Frank Gallagher, says: "Having the new set has made things easier. If we were doing outside scenes and it was raining, we can dive inside and do other stuff, assuming the actors are available.

"Having dressing rooms indoors is also deeply appreciated by all concerned," he laughs, referring to the times he's been soaked trying to dodge the Manchester rain while walking from Portacabin to filming location.

He says of Shameless: "I had no idea it was going to last as long as it has. My first response when reading the first script was, 'Is this what they're going to shoot or are they going to tone this down?" I'd never read anything like it before. It was so full-on.

"I was offered the part, then given about an hour to make up my mind. I just thought, 'Okay, let's see' – and now here we are promoting series five, and the longest series we've ever done."

For those unfamiliar with Shameless, David's character Frank is an unemployed, unemployable, drug-taking alcoholic. He's been little more than a shadow while his many children have grown up – eight at last count – and is virtually guaranteed not only to miss out on their major achievements in life, but also to scupper any other chances they may have with his shambolic behaviour.

On paper, he's everything a person and father should avoid being, yet despite his flaws, viewers love Frank dearly. So does David: "You have to love every character you play, even if they are vile. A man who headbutts his own children definitely doesn't have my vote, but it's about their reaction to his behaviour as much as anything. But, let's not forget, this sort of stuff does go on in real life.

"When I first read the part, I said the easiest thing would be to make him the village idiot, the town drunk, but where do you go with that? Nowhere, basically. You have to investigate why he's done it and work out other things about him.

"That's the great thing about Paul Abbott [the show's creator]," he adds. "He gives you space to work out a back-story, and my instinct was that Frank just went missing and took drink up as a mission 25 years ago, after the birth of one of his children."

The first instalment of the new 16-episode run, which aired on New Year's Day, saw David as director and it's something he's keen to continue.

"I'll be helping facilitate new stories and scripts, and getting into that almost industrial process of how the show gets made. I love that side of it all, I absolutely love it," he says, before revealing his own particular method when it comes to directing an episode.

"I like to guide and think about trying different things. I'm very straight, though. We do an episode in 25 days, so there's no time to mess about, but I like to rehearse and get the actors relaxed. We have a lot of fun up there."

Just don't try to get too deep with the characters.

"I don't think it's a show about explaining," he adds. "It is what it is, and if you don't get it, watch something else. I don't mean that in an off-hand way. I just mean it's a drama about people trying to get by, trying to get on in life. But, if you get it, you get it."

BY SIMON ROBINSON

TABLOID favourite Pete Doherty went back to basics at an intimate Chatham gig, taking to the stage with just a guitar and his enviable back catalogue of sing-along smash hits.

The troubled rocker, famed for hitting the headlines for all the wrong reasons, reeled off a string of his best-loved tracks during a storming half hour set at the Tap 'n' Tin, before making way for his boyhood heroes, headliners Chas 'n' Dave.

Pete performed songs from his days with The Libertines, such as Kilimanjaro and Carry On Up The Morning, as well as solo material.

Having whipped the sell-out crowd into a frenzy the famous frontman watched Chas 'n' Dave's set from the side of the stage.

The timeless duo, joined as always by Mick Burt on drums, rattled through all their old hits, including Snooker Loopy, Gertcha, Down to Margate and Rabbit, much to the delight of the largely steel toecap-wearing members of the audience who had made their way to the front.

Having almost exhausted their extensive back catalogue, Chas welcomed Pete back onto the stage for the grand finale, a rousing rendition of Ain't No Pleasin' You.

• A seven-minute clip of Pete's solo performance and a shorter one of Chas 'n' Dave's toe-tapping classics is available online now. Go to www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

Perfect for revitalisation

BY LISA HAYNES

WHEN Robbie Williams needed some serious rehab earlier this year, he got out his map of Arizona and checked into Phoenix's Cottonwood clinic.

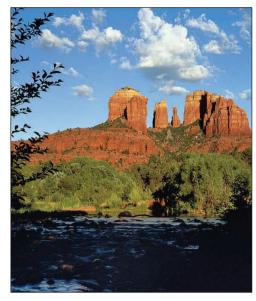

The singer may not have spent his stay scribbling postcards or seeing the sights – but after my week of luxury in Arizona, I'm quite prepared to believe Robbie went home a reformed, more relaxed character.

Newcomers to the Wild West imagine sandy deserts, towering cacti and cowboys, and first impressions won't disappoint – but it does have a few surprises in store.

Arizona divides roughly into three zones: the deserts of the south and west, the mountainous central highlands with volcanocreated plains in between, and the northern Colorado Plateau. Its major conurbations, Phoenix and Tucson are in the southern sector and surrounded by the cacti of the Sonoran Desert.

Holidays in Arizona, therefore, mostly attract those who relish the outdoor life: novice horse riders, mountain bikers, and those who savour mighty steaks cooked on a sizzling barbecue as the sun goes down.

Knowing we would experience the scorching heat of summer, we planned a lazier routine. After landing in Phoenix in a dust storm, the journey through cactus-lined streets to the hotel in Scottsdale was soon taking us through

STUNNING: Breathtaking scenery, shopping centres and spas are changing preconceived notions of Arizona

Camelback Road, Stetson Drive and Dynamite Boulevard. But morning and daylight soon brought a different perspective to my 'yee-ha!' preconceptions. From my colonial-style casita at The Four Seasons Resort Scottsdale, I was wowed by a surprisingly lush green landscape and mountain terrain.

Yet in the midst of rolling desert, you're only a short car journey away from Scottsdale's bustling and modern downtown art and shopping district, currently undergoing almost $3 billion's worth of tourist-friendly development.

Setting off the next day at 6am to beat the midday heat, which can top 40 degrees centigrade in the summer months, we blew away the cobwebs with a hike up nearby Pinnacle Peak and were rewarded with stunning views of the Sonoran Desert from a spectacular vantage point.

After breakfast, it was time for a signature Desert Nectar Facial in the spa of our hotel, before a visit to the ultra-modern Scottsdale Fashion Square to shop. Alternatively, culture vultures can dive into an array of vibrant art galleries, golfing fans have a choice of several superb courses and foodies can revel in award-winning restaurants, from sushi to Old West cuisine — Cowboy Ciao is a favourite with tourists and locals alike.

Scottsdale's Downtown is super-modern, immaculately turned out, and jam-packed with urban appeal. Our next stop, Sedona, could hardly have offered a more dramatic contrast. Famous for its striking red rock formations, Sedona makes an ideal location for a desert retreat because of its reputation as a creative mecca with a New Age feel, boasting spiritual charm and natural beauty.

Wherever you stay, the views will rarely be less than stunning. Even if you don't have the inclination to put on your hiking boots, you can't fail to be moved by Arizona's untouched desert beauty, and the never-ending sunshine.

If he goes there again, I'll wager that Robbie will ditch rehab to find revitalisation of an altogether different kind.

Course aims to fill empty properties

AN initiative to bring empty property back into use has staged two special training courses for its officers from across the county in a bid to boost its work going into 2008.

No Use Empty is supported by Dover, Shepway, Swale and Thanet councils and backed by Kent County Council. Launched in 2005, it hopes to bring back into service some of the 9,000 homes that stand empty in east Kent alone.

Last month it staged courses at the offices of Shepway and Swale councils which were attended by 56 delegates. Further courses are planned this year.

Susan Pledger, project manager of No Use Empty, said: "The purpose of these courses is to provide an opportunity for empty property officers across Kent to increase their knowledge and understanding of key legislation, which in turn helps them in their work to return more empty properties back into use."

Free help and advice is available to property owners by logging on to the www.no-use-empty.org website or by calling the No Use Empty hotline on 08458 247605.

Record attention for cottage homes

DEVELOPER Rydon Homes has received a record number of enquiries about cottage-style housing – despite the sales launch not starting until March.

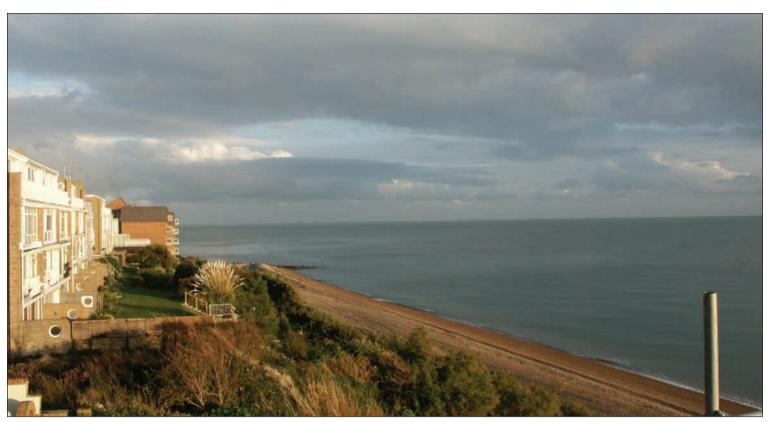

Merchant Mews will see 12 new twoand three-bedroom homes built in a courtyard just off New Dover Road, a mile from Canterbury city centre.

It will include six different styles of semi-detached and terraced houses to give individuality, with traditional detailing, white-painted brickwork and low-dipping rooflines.

Each cottage will have allocated parking, with three having their own

John Kitchin, managing director of Rydon Homes, said: "The response to Merchant Mews, where prices will be in the region of £435,000, shows how many buyers are looking for a high-quality house in an outstanding location.

"We have received so many enquiries that we have set up a sales cabin on site so prospective purchasers are able to take a look at the scheme prior to the sales launch."

WHAT A VIEW: Along with improved transport links, coastal locations are proving to be a key factor in influencing the continued rise of house prices in parts of Kent

Bucking the trend with soaring house prices

HOUSE prices in seaside towns across the county are set to continue rising throughout 2008 – as the number of people flocking to coastal retreats rockets.

And there's more good news for those living inland too – with improved transport links to both London and the Continent making parts of Kent set to lead the way in house price rises across the South East.

Experts point to the relative affordability of seaside towns as firing a new, increased demand from house-hunters seeking the best deals.

According to a report from estate agency Halifax, Kent is set to outperform the regional average, in part courtesy of infrastructure improvements such as the high-speed rail link and, for the north of the county, the opening of the Ebbsfleet International station.

BY SIMON ROBINSON

East Kent has been highlighted as an area set to benefit to the max, while the likes of Chatham and Dartford are identified as places where the price rises will be most significant over the next 12 months. Both towns were named in a list compiled by Halifax of the top ten property hot-spots for 2008.

Despite forecasting national price growth to be flat this year, Halifax managing director Colin Kemp said: "Some areas will continue to be in high demand next year, with property prices rising accordingly despite the expected subdued outlook across the market as a whole.

"The areas likely to record the biggest price gains will tend to be those with a combination of good transport links to a major conurbation and relatively low average prices."

"Chatham and the other Medway towns are likely to record significant price increases as demand is boosted by the planned opening of high-speed services to central London from north and east Kent in late 2009.

"Dartford and the surrounding area will also see a boost to its property market as a result of the recent opening of Ebbsfleet International."

Locate in Kent director of marketing and research Mandy Bearne said she agreed with Halifax's forecast.

She said: "There's so much happening in Kent. All our towns have been or are in the process of being completely rejuvenated.

"Through working with developers and builders I know Kent is going to become a much more attractive place to live, being better connected with London and the North.

"Everyone is predicting Kent becoming more popular due to the enhanced transport links, protecting it from any downturn in the market, either keeping house prices steady or helping them continue to rise."

MOTORS NEWS

Barretts' top three slot in Land Rover 'tech trek'

STAFF at Barretts Land Rover Canterbury came third in the three-day national final of the Land Rover G4 Trek, based on the brand's notorious global G4 Challenge.

The podium finish and 'best driving and winching team' award for (left to right) parts specialist Peter Bourlet, service manager David Parkin and technician Terry Law was achieved against 125 teams.

The challenge comprised off-roading, mountain biking, bridge building, navigation, quizzes, a slalom canoe race and a 'zip wire' ride.

Loyal Skoda dealer joins January sales

SALE shoppers at Gillingham's Hempstead Valley Centre can see some of the latest products from Skoda – the motor market's most improved brand – from next Monday to Friday (January 14-19).

Locally based Sherlodge Garage is one of Skoda's longest serving UK dealers and has seen the Czech firm – now owned by Germany's VW – reborn as a champion of modern yet still affordable cars. The Sherlodge stand outside Marks and Spencer includes the all-new Fabia supermini, Roomster Scout mini-MPV (pictured) and family-size Octavia hatchback.

Happy Nissan New Year

NISSAN dealers across Kent have started 2008 with a bang with cracking deals on top models, including the brand's big new hit – the Qashqai crossover model.

Part SUV (sports utility vehicle) and part family hatch, the Sunderland-built Qashqai is available in both front-wheel drive or 4x4 format and with engines to suit all needs and though Nissan has struggled to meet demand, it is offering a three-year zero per cent finance deal on the range and packages on other key models

SMALL AND COMPACT: The Mitsubishi iCar is marketed at the iPod generation who have a greener conscience and also signals things to come for car use in the future

Mitsubishi's city baby poses an image problem

MITSUBISHI has an image dilemma.

Having hewn a niche as a supplier of rough tough 4x4s and the wannabe cowboys' pin-up, the L200 pick-up, it is fast becoming a champion of 'small is beautiful' too.

Following up on the excellent Colt supermini, the Japanese marque launched the futuristic iCar last year, but either underestimated demand, couldn't import enough or shied away from causing further confusion about its image.

Whatever the answer, the initial import of 300 iCars was snapped up and Mitsubishi plans to bring in 1,500 this year, though this still looks conservative.

Part of the problem is that it cannot meet home market demand for the iCar, fuelled by a name intended to appeal to the iPod generation and its greener conscience.

OK, it is expensive at £9,084 and not particularly great to drive, but the iCar moves four in comfort with decent headroom and baggage space and nips into tiny spaces, outdoing the smart fortwo city car where smaller dimensions are achieved at the cost of two seats.

Like the smart, the iCar has a rear-mounted engine driving the rear wheels through an auto box, but a longer wheelbase makes it better at ironing out uneven roads.

The 0-62mph 'sprint' is not bad at 14.9 seconds, but the engine is raucous under pressure and the auto gearshifting ragged, although this can be smoothed using manual selection for 2nd and 3rd and also offers better control in tricky conditions.

Averaging 55mpg is also not that impressive – the excellent Fiat Panda is far better value, calls for fewer compromises and is not shamed by the iCar's consumption figure.

Other niggles need to be addressed, such as the fiddly dashboard immobiliser/alarm control and temperamental MP3 connection — a machine called the iCar had to be iPod compatible didn't it?

Nevertheless, the teardrop-shape iCar is a brave effort and signals things to come for car use; Mitsubishi plans a zero-emission electric version for 2009 with a 100-mile range and a 20-minute recharge to 80 per cent of full power — with Government subsidies, it could cost £12,765.

BIG ESTATES

carsferkent.co.uk

JUST as estate cars started to cast off their 'tradesman' tag and revel in a more upmarket image, along came rivalry from MPVs or 'people carriers' and 4x4s to compete for load-lugging sales. But if you are in the market for a stylish estate with good handling, load-carrying refinement and plenty of space, try this trio for size. Even the smallest and cheapest, the Nissan Primera, will carry nearly 1,700 litres of luggage. All three candidates are also available with some of the best diesel powertrains in the business.

NISSAN PRIMERA ESTATE

ADDING an estate car rear to the standard hatchback toned down the Primera's futuristic styling and created one of the nicest yet underrated estate cars on the market. You get a sharp handling, spacious and reliable load lugger that comes with plenty of standard kit; buy the refined and economical turbodiesel and you will have been really smart.

VAUXHALL VECTRA ESTATE

NO ESTATE car in the mainstream market matches the big Vauxhall for capacity. The boot carries 530 litres, but folding the rear seats boosts load capacity to 1,850 litres - a sharp contrast to the wimpy Vectra estate that preceded it. This is also a handsome purposeful car that feels well-built and drives well. Unfortunately, smaller engines make hard work of it when the Vectra is loaded to capacity – go for the bigger petrol units or excellent CDTi turbodiesels instead.

HONDA ACCORD TOURER

HONDA'S well-built and specified Accord range is knocking on the door of an 'exclusive' club that has been the preserve of upmarket German margues. The spacious and able estate or Tourer version adds further weight, since big swanky estates are what Audi, BMW and Mercedes do so well. The Accord offers 626 litres of space in 'normal' mode and 1,707 litres with seats folded. The line-up's 2.2 CDTi turbo diesel is also one of the smoothest and sportiest around.

Canterbury Christ Church University is the largest centre of higher education in Kent for the public services - notably teacher training, policing, health and social care - and is a significant provider of programmes in a wide range of academic and professional areas.

CANTERBURY CAMPUS

Computing Services

Computer Liaison Officer (Two Posts)

£27,466 to £29,139 per annum

Following a restructure of our Computing Services Department, we're seeking two additional experienced professionals to join the Computing Liaison Team. As part of this small team, you'll proactively develop the department's relationship with the faculties - you'll also identify the potential benefits of IT, help to establish business cases, and meet the needs of key stakeholders in this field.

Educated to degree level, you'll combine project management experience with the proven ability to enable the interaction of IT and business operation. It's also important that you are an excellent communicator who is comfortable liaising at all levels of our organisation. A specific background in IT support would be an advantage, as would experience of developing service level agreements. Ref: CLO/CS/77.

Interview date: 21 & 22 February 2008.

Web Systems Administrator/ Programmer

£27,466 to £29,139 per annum (A higher salary may be available for an exceptional candidate)

As part of our Infrastructure Group, you'll provide expert technical support and development across our IT infrastructure. You will take responsibility for a number of key web services - and make a real contribution to our strategic projects, including an integrated identity management system.

Along with experience of web application development technologies and IIS/Windows Server administration, you'll need good interpersonal skills, a flexible approach, and familiarity with internet protocols. Ideally, you will have a working knowledge of C#, .Net, SQL, and XHTML - as well as a strong understanding of web technologies such as ADO, AJAX, ASP, XML and CSS. Ref: WSA2/CS/77.

For an informal discussion on either of these vacancies, please contact Louise Sibley on 01227 782522.

Student Support & Guidance

Student Adviser (Dyslexia & Neuro-Diversity)

£22,332 to £24,403 per annum

You will be responsible for prospective and registered students with dyslexia and neuro-diverse conditions (such as dyspraxia and Asperger syndrome), ensuring that the University provides appropriate support for their needs.

We are seeking a team member to provide advice, guidance and information to students and to advise other University staff on appropriate, reasonable adjustments to enable access to the curriculum and all aspects of student life.

You will be educated to at least A level standard or equivalent and be able to demonstrate that you have broad experience of working in a supportive capacity with people with neuro-diverse conditions (in either an educational or voluntary sector setting). Further study or professional development in the field of dyslexia and/or neuro-diversity would be advantageous. Ref: SA/SSG/77.

Library Services

Faculty Liaison Librarian (Health & Social Care)

£25,134 to £26,666 per annum

We are seeking to appoint an enthusiastic librarian to join the Academic Services team at a busy University Library. You will be responsible for sharing academic liaison for the Health & Social Care Faculty, and will contribute to the provision of a library service which is responsive to the needs of all students and staff.

A qualified librarian, you should have previous professional library experience, ideally within the university sector. Excellent presentation and communication skills, along with a good working knowledge of information resources, are essential. You must have a commitment to continued professional development and be able to work independently, as well as part of a team. Ref: FLL2/LS/77.

Sport Science, Tourism and Leisure

Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in Sport and Exercise Science (Biomechanics)

£26,666 to £40,335 per annum

Applications are invited for a full-time post of Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in Sport and Exercise Science to teach Biomechanics on a range of undergraduate programmes as well as contributing to the Department's expanding research programme. Applicants who can also contribute to other areas of sport and exercise science including research methods will be particularly welcome.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Marketing team is hand-picked for success

THE company running one of Kent's most prestigious hotels has landed a top accolade at national marketing awards.

Hand Picked Hotels, which runs Chilston Park Hotel in Lenham, won the award for best marketing activity on a small budget at the Hotel Marketing Association's 14th annual marketing awards at the Intercontinental Hotel in Park Lane.

The award was for a marketing drive for the company's 14 country house hotels – including Chilston Park, a 17th-century manor house set in 23 acres of countryside.

The team responsible for the winning campaign received an all-expenses paid luxury house party'.

Keep your eyes open to ensure safety at work

THE Health and Safety Executive has published guidance to prevent danger from portable electrical equipment in low-risk premises.

It reveals that for most offices visual checks of computers, printers and faxes for obvious signs of damage and simple tests by competent members of staff are sufficient to comply with the law.

By law, companies do not need to keep a record of checks, but doing so can give useful information when faults do arise.

Investor expands by buying landmark hotel

A LANDMARK hotel has been bought by a property investment group as part of its expansion plans in Kent.

GSE Cheriton Parc Limited, based in Ashford, has acquired Hythe Imperial Hotel with a funding package from The Royal Bank of Scotland. The 100-room hotel, which has sea

The 100-room hotel, which has sea views, gardens, a spa, a golf course and conference facilities, will be run by Accor Hotels UK through its Mercure brand.

GSE Cheriton Parc Limited is the property investment arm of GSE Group Limited, whose main activities are building and civil engineering.

Advice is advised

PRIVATE businesses squeezed by growing red tape and health and safety issues are turning more and more to an independent group which advises and fights for them.

The national Forum of Private Business (FPB) – contacted regularly by Kent-based firms – is funded by members and offers a range of products and services aimed at saving money and providing practical help with all aspects of running a small business.

Ian Cox, of RS Piper Ltd, a Folkestone company making engineering components and exhaust systems, said he had used the FPB's legal helpline regularly.

"So often, when you go to see a lawyer, you end up no better off. We've used the FPB's legal helpline three times in the last six months for advice on employment law and other legal issues and we got results."

Phil McCabe, FPB's media officer, said advisers can offer practical information to owner-managers of member firms faced with staff disputes, who often feel they have nowhere else to turn for legal information.

Members can now also take advantage of the FPB's new employment guide to help them negotiate complexities of employment law

FPB's senior member services representative, Philip Moody, said it could also help firms cope with changes in the workplace, which often unsettled workers.

He said: "I would urge them to call the helpline whenever they make any changes in the workplace, rather than leaving it until there is a problem with staff. The sooner assistance can be given to ward off potential disputes, the better."

Over the last month there was a sharp increase in the number of enquiries regarding actual or prospective redundancies, with 16 per cent of all callers seeking help, but about a third of all calls related to employee conduct.

Employee absence, including unauthorised absence, remains a problem for small businesses. About 19 per cent of all the calls received in December were related to difficulties created by members of staff not turning up for work.

FPB was formed in 1977 and represents approximately 25,000 UK-based businesses, which in turn employ more than 600,000 people.

To contact FPB, phone 01565 626019, or visit www.fpb.org.

TAKE CARE: Small businesses are advised to phone the FPB helpline whenever they make changes in the workplace to avoid potential disputes and possible unpleasantness in the office

DENIED: Bay striker Aaron Firth is unable to find a way past Thamesmead's keeper during their quarter-final defeat

Slack defence costs Bay dear

A LACK of concentration after halftime cost Herne Bay the chance of a place in the Kent Senior Trophy semi-finals as Thamesmead took advantage of some slack defending to score twice.

Ben Brown pulled a goal back for the hosts but despite determined probing, Bay could not find an equaliser to take the game into extra-time.

Despite the defeat, Bay assistant manager Barry Morgan praised the side's spirit.

He said: "Although we lost, it was quite an encouraging performance. After going behind last week [in a 4-2 loss against VCD Athletic] we collapsed but we showed good character and heart to get back into the game.

FOOTBALL

Herne Bay 1 Thamesmead Town 2

"Getting knocked out of any competition is a blow but Thamesmead are one of the top sides in the league. We are the youngest squad in the league by a mile and when you have that it's hard to be consistent.'

Bay had the best chance of the first half when young talent Christian Marsh missed an open goal on his first start for the club as the sides went in level at the break.

Thamesmead made the most of some sloppy marking to score twice in six minutes after the break, but Bay roused themselves and got back into the match when Brown slotted home his third goal in as many games.

The home side controlled the rest of the game but came up against a well organised Town defence.

Bay had Simon Brown and Rhys Lawson missing through suspension and Morgan felt their absence was crucial.

He said: "It has cost us dearly because their full-backs were not the quickest and those players would have made an impact."

Bay played their final group match in the League Cup against Tunbridge Wells last night. Visit www.yourcanterbury.co.uk for the match report.

Gough strike is enough for City

ROYSTON Gough scored the only goal of the game as Canterbury City got one step closer to promotion with a 1-0 win over rivals Otford.

The striker met Wayne Fittall's centre after 36 minutes to net the winner in a tight game. City had chances to extend the lead, with the usually impeccable Fittall missing a penalty in the second half.

Maximum points maintained their 11-point lead at the top of Kent County League Division Two East, and they are now 15 points clear of third-placed Otford.

Dave Fairclough's side play struggling Pembury on Saturday as they look to strengthen their position at the top.

Canterbury grab win at the death

A LAST-minute try from Michael Melford gave Canterbury a great start to the New Year with a 13-8 victory away at Dings

Wessel Wolmorans showed great vision with a cross-field kick in the final seconds to pick out the sprinting Melford, who touched down in the corner to condemn Dings to a rare home defeat.

Heavy rain in Bristol overnight made the match a mudbath and turned the game into a battle between the forwards.

Kieron Lewitt put the visitors in front with a penalty after only two minutes, but the hosts rallied with a penalty and a try of their own to lead 8-3 at half-time.

Canterbury weathered a storm early in the second half and Lewitt kicked another penalty to close the deficit, before Melford sealed a valuable win.

The top three sides all won, so Canterbury remain fourth in National 3 South, 12 points behind leaders Mounts Bay.

Tredwell's in a spin over England call-up

CRICKET

BY GLENN PEARSON

KENT all-rounder James Tredwell has been rewarded for his excellent 2007 season with a call-up to England's one-day squad for the tour to New Zealand.

The 25-year-old bowling all-rounder was a surprise inclusion to the 16-man squad. He will battle it out with Nottinghamshire's Graeme Swann for the spinner's berth in the team which plays five One-Day Internationals and two Twenty20 games against the third highest ranked ODI nation.

Tredwell said: "I had an inkling something was happening, but it was still a wonderful moment when David Graveney rang me to confirm my selection.

"I was wondering if I was about to be made captain of the England Lions tour of India, or something like that, but then to get my first senior England call-up – it's fantastic."

The call-up caps off a great year for the Kent star, who has often led the attack for the club as the county's only spinner and has chipped in with important runs in all forms of the game.

He said: "It's nice to be recognised for what I've done out on the field for Kent over the past few years in particular. I feel my one-day cricket has been good and I've made big strides at first-class level too.'

Efforts

Tredwell spent last month with the England Performance Programme in India. He performed well, picking up six wickets in the two games recording figures of 3-24 and 3-45 and believes his efforts against a country renowned for their ability to play spin, improved his chances of a call up.

He said: "I feel I bowled and batted well and obviously I impressed those in charge there because I'm sure that has had something to do with my promotion to senior England level.

"I tried to make sure my general attitude and approach to training was good and I also enjoyed working with Ashley Giles who was on the trip as a specialist spin coach."

The squad depart later this month ahead of the first match in Christchurch on February 2. Kent will also be represented on the England Lions tour to India, after opening batsman Joe Denly received a call-up.

The 21-year-old excelled on his debut for the team last summer, against a full-strength India side at Chelmsford, scoring 83.

Seager in quest for new striker

FOOTBALL

BY DAVID PRITCHARD

Whitstable Town 2 Walton Casuals 3

ANOTHER inconsistent performance from Whitstable Town saw Marc Seager's men lose a crucial match at the bottom of the Ryman South.

Danny Tipple put the Oystermen in front at the break, but Casuals hit back with three goals before Liam Quinn scored a late consolation.

The result leaves Town fourth from bottom, with just one win in their last 10 games.

Seager's efforts to bring in a striker continue after the club were priced out of a move for Hythe Town's prolific hit-man Buster Smissen.

The striker signed an 18-month deal with Hythe last month, which forced the Oystermen to withdraw their approach.

Smissen has caught the eye in the Kent League this season, topping the goalscoring charts with an astonishing 22 goals in 13 games.

Sittingbourne striker Bradley Spice also opted against a move to the Belmont earlier this week.

Seager said: "I need to bring in a striker, that's top of my list. We put in an approach for Smissen but our budget could not cover a player under contract."

player under contract."

Whitstable did add to their squad last week by signing defender Quinn from Dover Athletic on a permanent basis.

The centre-back played youth and reserve team football for the club and spent a month at Whitstable on loan before Christmas.

Seager was delighted with Quinn's decision, which involved taking a pay cut.

He said: "It is a massive compliment to the club that he has signed. He was fantastic for us in the month we had him. I have said all season we have missed a leader and that's what he brings to the side."

BASEMENT BATTLE: New signing Liam Quinn scored on his return to the club, but could not prevent Whitstable Town slipping to a costly defeat against relegation rivals Walton Casuals at the Belmont

Peture JASON DODO

POSITIVE: Kent Crusaders coach Mads Olesen has his sights set on a top eight finish despite losing the club's best player

Teamwork to see Crusaders through

KENT Crusaders coach Mads Olesen is resigned to losing the team's star player but believes his squad have what it takes to make it to the end of season play-offs.

The club are negotiating the move of key man Robbie Parker to a professional team in Spain after the guard spent a successful week on trial last month.

The 25-year-old only rejoined the Canterbury-based team this summer after a season playing in Germany.

Although the deal is not finalised, Olesen believes it is a formality.

He said: "We know that he's probably going to leave. It has been Robbie's dream to play abroad, he did it last year and he came back to us with the condition that he could go at any time if an offer came in.

"We have known that would be an option all along so we have built our game around team play rather than an individual."

Despite losing the team's most experienced player, Olesen is predicting a successful second half to the season.

The year begins with a very difficult run of fixtures, with five away games out of six. Despite the challenge ahead, the squad are looking forward to the games.

Olesen said: "We know January is very Olesen said: "We know January is very tough. We will see how we cope with that, it's a big test but it means the rest of the season we are mostly at home which should mean we finish strongly.

"We want to be somewhere in the playoffs by the end of the season, we don't want to be looking at the same relegation battle we had last year."

The team began the year with a 70-57 defeat to Plymouth Raiders II. They have another road trip this Saturday with a match against Northampton Neptunes.

SPORT IN BRIEF

Harriers aiming to build on strong league position

THE penultimate round of athletics' Kent Fitness League takes place this weekend, with Canterbury Harriers' ladies looking to consolidate their lead in the standings.

Harriers lead Dartford Road Runners by seven points in the ladies table as they look to successfully defend their title. The men's team are also well-placed and could move into the top four with a good performance.

Minnis Bay in Birchington are hosting the sixth round of the series. Racing gets underway on Sunday at 11am.

City hockey players on course for indoor finals

A PLACE in the National Indoor Hockey finals day is at stake for both Canterbury's first teams as the group stage reaches a climax this weekend.

The men's team won the title last year and are well-placed to finish in the top four and qualify for the semi-finals at the National Indoor Arena later this month.

Canterbury's ladies team face an uphill battle to progress after three defeats from their first four games, but an improved showing could see them sneak through.

Crunch game for netball league's biggest losers

THE Canterbury & District Netball League resumes this weekend after a five-week winter break with a clash of Division One's bottom two.

Civil Service and Canterbury Pilgrims have lost all 11 of the games they have contested so far, but one of the sides will get off the mark when they meet this Sunday.

At the top of the table, fourth-placed Lipscomb Volvo will look to put themselves firmly in the hunt with a win against league leaders Canterbury.

Brave Whitstable bogged down by league leaders

A DISALLOWED try proved crucial as Whitstable RFC put up a strong fight before going down 24-0 to league leaders Bognor.

The London South East 4 pace setters led 10-0 at the break but the Blues were upset after Andy Brown had what looked like a good try chalked off by the unsighted official.

The away side dominated in the second half and two late tries sealed their victory.

Whitstable play fellow strugglers
Crowborough Park in their next game on
